Step into the shoes of the pros for a day and test your drive on the only course designed for the Australian Open." The Open Course at Moonah Links is the first ever 18 holes built and prepared for a national championship. It is one of the longest courses in Australia, and probably in the world in this category. It measures 6783 metres, so it offers more than a casual stroll in the outdoors. It is a mighty and ferocious test of golfing ability, the likes of which even the top pros only occasionally experience.
